

Understanding Your Score on the Rice Purity Test

The Rice Purity Test score is a numerical value that reflects the number of experiences you've had, with a focus on behaviors that are typically associated with innocence, relationships, and personal milestones. Here's how to understand what your score means:

How Scores Are Calculated

- Each question you answer "yes" to will lower your score.
- The test consists of 100 questions, so your score will be between 0 and 100.
- The more experiences you've had, the lower your score will be, as each "yes" indicates a new experience.

Interpreting Your Score

- 90-100: Very High Purity
 - If your score is between 90-100, it indicates that you have had very few of the experiences listed in the test. Your lifestyle is perceived as more "innocent," with fewer life experiences.
- 70-89: High Purity
 - A score between 70-89 suggests that you've had some experiences, but overall, your experiences are still considered more innocent or mild compared to others.
- 50-69: Average Purity
 - With a score between 50-69, you're in the average range. You've had a mix of experiences, some common and some less typical, but nothing too extreme. It reflects a balanced level of experiences.
- 30-49: Moderate Purity
 - If your score falls between 30-49, you have a relatively broad range of experiences. This score suggests that you've been exposed to or engaged in many different activities and experiences.
- 10-29: Low Purity

- A score in the 10-29 range indicates that you have had quite a few life experiences, especially those that go beyond the typical, "innocent" experiences. You've likely experienced a diverse set of situations.
- 0-9: Very Low Purity
 - If your score is between 0-9, this suggests you've had a wide variety of experiences, and likely many of them are not considered innocent by typical standards. It may reflect a highly adventurous or non-conventional lifestyle.

What Does Your Score Mean?

- No Right or Wrong Score: Remember, the Rice Purity Test is intended to be fun and reflective, not a serious assessment of who you are. There's no right or wrong score—it's all about how you view your experiences.
- Self-Reflection: Your score might provide an interesting perspective on your own life and experiences, but it doesn't define your worth, morality, or character.
- Don't Stress: Whether you score high or low, the Rice Purity Test doesn't indicate anything negative about you. It's simply a way to gauge experiences in a lighthearted manner.

What to Do Next?

After you get your score, think about what it means to you personally. Some may see their low score as a badge of honor for their adventurous spirit, while others might feel they haven't experienced enough. Either way, it's just a tool for fun reflection!
